CORNER STONE LAID

Dignified And Impressive Consummation of Corner Stone Laying

Saturday last witnessed one of the largest crowds that ever assembled within our city, the occasion being the laying of the corner stone of the new Methodist Church which is now in process of erection at the corner of College and Carlisle Streets.

In accordance with our announcements of last week the ceremony was under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, F. & A. M., the Grand Master of which had 'deputised' Rev. Charles C. Woods, D. D. of St. Louis, Mo., to preside, and lay the Corner stone, assisted by Dr. R. C. Blackmer, and Mr. John B. Thompson of St. Louis, and Mr. Jesse Whitworth of Hardinsburg, Ky., in the capacity of Deputy Grand Master and Wardens respectively.

Bigham Lodge of this city, reinforced by brethren from Sturgis, and other lodges in the county put in a very large representation, and the ceremonies were conducted throughout with precision and great solemnity. An added feature of importance in the procession was the inclusion of the ladies of the Eastern Star Chapter which lent a distinct attraction to the occasion as did also the large and representative body of influential citizens, both public and private which participated in the march.

Promptly at three o'clock the procession filed out from the Masonic Temple under the direction of Grand Marshal W. D. Cannan, and his most efficient Deputy Chastain W. Haynes, the latter of whom was mounted on a dappled gray charger. Dr. F. W. Nunn led as Grand Tiler, with his sword drawn, being immediately followed by the Brethren of Sturgis Lodge as a guard of honor. Then came Grand Secretary, J. Bell Kevil, and Grand Treasurer, H. A. Haynes, they being followed by Forest B. Heath, who as Master of the Bigham Lodge carried the Holy Bible, square and compasses, supported by Claude W. Lamb and James L. Travis as Grand Stewards. These were succeeded by Rev. Arthur Mather, D. D., who as Grand Chaplain walked arm in arm with Hon. John L. Whent of Louisville, Ky., for long years the vice president of the Masonic Widows and Orphans' home, and one of the Grand Orators of the day. At this point came the ladies of the Eastern Star Chapter, making a beautiful contrast in their white dresses and black parasols.

PAYNTER DROPS FROM THE RACE.

Frankfort, Ky., June 24.—United States Senator Thomas H. Paynter, who has been an inspirer for the nomination in the State primary election July 1st, next, tonight withdrew from the contest, leaving the field to Congressman Ollie M. James, of the First Kentucky district, who now will be nominated without opposition.

Political conditions in Louisville are responsible for Paynter's withdrawal. For weeks he has had good reasons to believe his candidacy would receive favorable consideration in that city, but his hopes were blasted by the announcement this week by Mayor W. O. Head and others that they would give their support to James.

Paynter says in view of the condition he is "not inclined to incur the necessary expense incident to perfecting such an organization as would be required to meet the present situation."

Distressing Accident to Jesse Olive, Jr.

Jesse Olive, Jr., who operated the corn popping machine for Pierce-Asher & Co., had the misfortune to get his right hand caught in the cog wheel Saturday with the result that he lost the first joint of his thumb, it being crushed and ground up so badly that amputation was necessary at the first joint. It was a very painful wound but fortunately no complications have arisen and he is rapidly recovering.

The Boys Room

DID YOU ever think how important it is that it be properly furnished. Did you ever know how a boy likes to show his companions his bedroom. Is your boy ashamed of his? May-be you have never given much attention to this, figuring it was just the boy's room, but if you want to make your boy truly love and cherish his home fit it up so that he will be proud of it. Our line of bedroom furnishings are cheap enough when you come to think of it, so that the boys room can easily be a room that both you and he will be proud of.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for a year without success and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well again and do all my own house work. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and when my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, R. R. No. 3, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of men. Why don't you try it?

INTERIOR OF WESTMINSTER ABBEY

Showing the Two Thrones to be Used for the Coronation.

Coronation of King George V

Quaint Mediæval Ceremonies Mark His Formal Investiture With the Emblems of Kingship Power

The coronation order occupies a unique position among English services. While its central portions, the anointing of the king and his investiture with the ensigns of kingly power remain necessarily unchanged, no other service has undergone so much revision in details, and none reflects in so many curious ways the ideas of the language of different periods of English history.

There are 30 sections in the service, beginning with the Preparation. It is there enjoined in the rubric: "In the morning upon the day of the Coronation early, care is to be taken that the Ampulla be filled with oil, and, together with the Spoon, be laid ready upon the Altar in the Abby Church."

The Archbishops' and Bishops' procession will be waiting outside the Abby, and as their majesties enter they will be greeted by the singing of the anthem, "I Was Glad When They Said Unto Me." Before the anthem is concluded the King and Queen will have passed from the great west doors through the choir to the theater—the technical name for the portion of the Cathedral arranged for the chief events in the coronation—and on to their thrones.

THE RECOGNITION.
After the King and Queen's private prayers there follows the recognition by the people. This is expressed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, who is the chief celebrant, accompanied by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Great Chamberlain, Lord High Constable and Earl Marshal, preceded by the Garter King of Arms. These are to go to the four sides of the theater and the Archbishop will say, "With a loud voice:" Sirs, I here present unto you King George, the undoubted king of this realm; wherefore all you who are come this day to do your homage and service. Are you willing to do the same?"

To this the people are to respond with shouts of "God Save King George!" and the trumpets will sound. A significant act follows: Bible, Pater and chalice are to be placed on the altar. So also the regalia, which is delivered to the Archbishop, who will pass it to the Dean of Westminster, by whom the final act of laying the sacred emblems on the altar is to be performed.

SOLEMN QUESTIONS.

For the sermon the King "shall put on his cap of crimson velvet lined up with ermine, and so continue to

The Dean of Westminster shall bring the crown, and the Archbishop taking it of him shall reverently put it upon the King's head. At the right whereof the people, with loud and repeated shouts, shall cry: "God save the King;" the peers and the kings of arms shall put on their coronets; and the trumpets shall sound, and by a signal given, the great guns at the tower shall be shot off."

After the acclamation that follows the act of crowning the Archbishop utters a solemn benediction, and there is a still further benediction after the Bible has been presented to His Majesty.

All the emblems of royal and temporal dignity having been bestowed upon His Majesty, he is to take his seat on the throne and receive from his Sovereign, the Prince of Wales and the prince of blood royal included, their acts of homage. The Primate comes first, then the Earl Appellant, who, taking off his coronet, shall kneel before His Majesty's knee, saying: "I do become your liege man of life and limb and of earthly worship, and faith and truth I will bear unto you, to live and die against all manner of folks. So help me God."

The peers follow with the same phraseology.

"LONG LIVE THE KING!"

The great and representative congregation in the Abby who cannot perform homage in the manner thus indicated have their share when the homage is ended. The roll of the drums and the shrill blast of the trumpet will then be heard, and the vast assembly will break out into shouts:

"God save King George!"

"Long live King George!" Stripped of all their regal pomp, both King and Queen will descend from their thrones and go to the steps of the altar, where they shall kneel for the holy communion. At the conclusion both their majesties will resume their crowns and scepters and repair to their thrones. Thus seated, the concluding passages of the service will proceed and the long order of service close with the te deum sung by the choir.

The official order then concludes:

"The King shall then be dressed in his royal robe of state, and, arrayed in his robe of purple velvet and wearing his imperial crown, shall then receive in his left hand the orb from the Archbishop. Then their majesties shall proceed through the choir to the west door of the church, in the same way as they came, wearing their crowns."

His Majesty's Theater.

The gala performance at His Majesty's theater, during coronation week, promises to be a brilliant affair. The program is being arranged by Sir Herbert Tree and Mr. Arthur Bourchier, and will include a series of pieces in which Sir Charles Wyndham, Miss Elsie Terry, Sir John Harcourt and all the leading actors and actresses of the day will appear.

side of the wall betwixt him and the pulpit."

The sermon ended, the service again assumes a personal note, and provision is made for the tendering of three solemn questions to His Majesty by the Archbishop. These concern constitutional government, the execution of law and justice in mercy, maintenance of the "Protestant reformed religion established by law" and the settlement of the Church of England.

Then on the Bible which was recently presented to the King for the purpose he lays his right hand and says:

"The things which I have heretofore promised I will perform and keep. So help me God."

Then the King shall kiss the book and sign the oath.

The anointing follows, on the crown of the head, on the breast, and on the palms of both hands. The King then kneeling, the Archbishop pronounces a blessing over him. The presenting of the spurs and sword, and the girding and oblation of the sword, the investing with the armill and royal robe and the delivery of the orb, the investiture per anum et baculum follows.

THE SUPREME ACT.

The previous investiture pales in importance to that which now takes place. This is the supreme act of crowning, which is preceded by a solemn prayer, by the Archbishop while the sacred emblem lies before him on the altar. Inserted as a side note in the prayer are the quaint words used on many previous occasions, "Here the King must be put in mind to bow his head." For the crowning the King is seated in the coronation chair and the robes are joined:

The Dean of Westminster shall bring the crown, and the Archbishop taking it of him shall reverently put it upon the King's head. At the right whereof the people, with loud and repeated shouts, shall cry: "God save the King;" the peers and the kings of arms shall put on their coronets; and the trumpets shall sound, and by a signal given, the great guns at the tower shall be shot off."

Rufus and Roy Terry are at home for a two weeks' visit. They say the weather in Chicago was hot in the month of May.

Mrs. R. U. Oates, of New Albany, Ind., is visiting her father, J. H. Robinson.

W. H. Graves and family took a day off and went fishing at the lake and also visited Cave-in-Rock, Ill.

R. E. Belt has moved in his new house.

Ben Gilbert has changed the old Memphis mines farm from a wilderness to a beautiful farm.

The farmers are about through cutting wheat; R. Robinson has broken the record, having, with a Deering binder fifteen years old, cut ten acres of wheat in five hours, Walter Worley being the driver. Walter is a crack shot with a revolver, as well as the whip; having killed a hawk that measured four feet eight inches from tip to tip of its wings.

There is only two crops of tobacco set in this neighborhood.

The hay crop will be short; oats are not very good; corn looks well; wheat fairly good.

Miss Emma Terry visited her sister, Mrs. John Guess, at Tolu last week.

OAK HALL

Wheat cutting is all the go at this writing; corn is growing very fast on account of the recent rains.

Miss Lou Dean, of Barstow, Texas, visited A. Dean and family last week.

Miss Arlie and Austin Shelton, of Dixon, Ky., who have been visiting their uncle, W. G. Conditt, returned home Monday accompanied by Miss Grace Conditt, who will be their guest for a few days.

Messrs. Rufus and Roy Terry, of Chicago, Ill., visited friends and relatives in this vicinity last week but returned to Chicago Sunday.

Walter Worley and Miss Stella Robinson, of Forest Grove, attended Sunday School at this place Sunday afternoon.

Our Sunday School is preparing to have some Children's Day exercises in the near future.

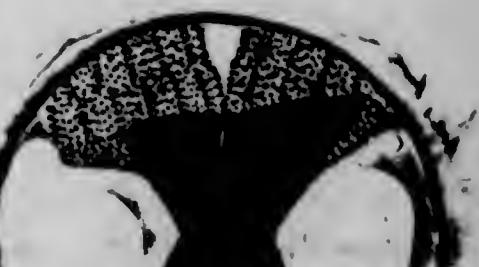

W. L. Terry and family passed through the neighborhood Sunday evening enroute home from a visit to W. B. Rankin.

Mrs. Caroline Belt visited her daughter, Mrs. J. U. G. Cleghorn, last week.

Miss Susie Barnes gave a birthday party to quite a number of her young friends Friday evening, and everyone present reported a nice time.

Ottis Ford made his usual call Sunday afternoon. Some say, he will call her home, ere long.

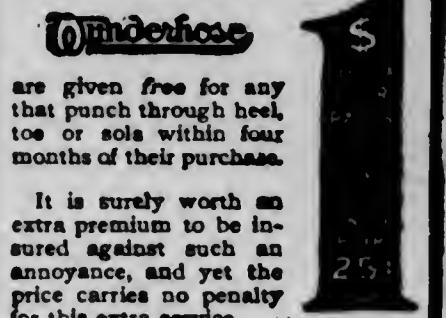

We all hope that those talked of turnpikes will materialize in the near future; but in the meantime some respectable dirt roads would come in pretty handy.

TOBACCO TIDINGS.

BY R. F. WHEELER.

RAIN BUT NO PLANTS.

Banks Gathers News by 'Phone and Mail and Finds that Much Rain Fell, But Tobacco Plants Are Exceedingly Scarce

Apart from an instinctive and impulsive desire to tell the truth regarding everything, which I think is characteristic of a big majority of Kentuckians, speaking as an official of the Stemming Association I know I ought to tell the truth respecting the outlook for the 1911 tobacco crop.

For this Association cannot afford to discredit itself by falsifying crop prospects for the purpose of reaping temporary profits. From business point of view, that would be a bad policy, a policy sure to injuriously effect the association in the long run.

In a leisurely way let us, on the 29th day of June, 1911, estimate the prospects for a tobacco crop in the Stemming District for the current year.

And in the beginning all know this is written from the nerve center of the association. Every thing affecting the tobacco crop, favorable or the reverse, naturly drifts or is drawn to association headquarters here in Henderson, Ky.

To illustrate, Editor Harris of the Journal came in from Sebree this morning; him I sought and questioned. "No rain at Sebree or Robards Saturday or Sunday or this morning, excepting light showers to barely lay the dust, and in consequence no tobacco setting."

Came in also Secretary Thompson from Providence this morning he reports: "No rain this side of Slaughtersville. Light rains there and heavier down the line to Madisonville, where they had good soaking rains in the past 2 days and the same also at Nebo, Providence, Clay and Dixon.
And," concluded Mr. Thompson
"I sum up the situation in Webster like this: the southern half of the county has been comparatively speaking, favored with rains as compared with the northern half of county, and in consequence a bigger acreage was pitched and is growing in south Webster. In that end of Webster the waste of plants, perish-after transplanting, has not been nearly so great as in north Webster.
From all of which you may gather that north Webster is handicapped by the insufficient supply of plants. For the lack of which, how favorable so ever the weather may prove hereafter it will be impossible for north Webster to pitch anything like a full crop.

And Mr. Thompson agrees with this writer in that identical conditions and prospects prevail in both Henderson and Union counties as in north Webster. In all this territory the available supply of plants is wholly inadequate for the crop intended.
To particularize and go on record, take the following as the joint forecast of Sec'y Thompson and this writer, conditioned on favorable weather for the future:

Normal production of Henderson county, twelve millions pounds, 30 per cent, of crop in 1911 3,600,000
Normal production in Union county, four million pounds, 30 percent, of a crop in 1911, 1,200,000

Same for Webster county eight million pounds, 50 per cent. of crop in 1911.....

4,000,000

Same for Hopkins county, seven million, 80 per cent of crop in 1911 5,600,000

Same for Crittenden co., three million pounds; 80
per cent. of crop in 1911

2,400,000

Total 16,400,000

Normal average production in the Stemming District, thirty-four million pounds. Conjectured production for year 1911, 16 million, 8 hundred thousand, the 29th day of June, 1911.

Or, in other words, under future favorable weather conditions this district may produce 50 per cent of a crop. While that is possible it is by no means probable, as all well posted men will readily admit. And by specialist, more ready than by others.

Future floods, drouths, hail and frosts, of course, can't help the crop.

Filth, Flies, and Summer Sickness.

BY

T. ATCHISON FRAZIER, M. D.
Health officer

We cannot have flies without filth, as it is their breeding place, their home, their very haven of rest; therefore we cannot discuss flies without discussing filth, and as a matter of course we cannot discuss summer sickness without discussing flies, for it is an unquestioned fact that fifty percent of our summer sickness is due to the nefarious work of these little winged pests; therefore if we are to make any headway in the destruction of flies we must first dispose of the filth or treat it in a way that it will be uninhabitable for the fly, and therefore prevent their propagation. This can be done in different ways.

All manure and garbage heaps can be sprinkled with crude oil, or common coal oil, or this can be done by the free use of unslackened lime; but this must be done at least once a week or the manure or garbage heaps can be screened so that the flies cannot come in contact with their breeding places. Filth of all kinds should be carefully disposed of and we should take pride in keeping our premises in a sanitary condition, if you tolerate or enjoy filth your self; your neighbor may not, therefore you have no right to maintain a nuisance that is repugnant to any one else. The responsibility of citizenship rests upon us as individuals. The individual families make up the community, and the communities make the county, the counties, make the state, the States make the Nation; therefore when we begin to reason along these lines it brings this responsibility home to us as a personal matter.

A man who lives only for selfish motives, had better never have lived, so far as this world is concerned, but if we live only for selfish motives it will pay us to live a cleanly life and keep our premises in a sanitary condition. It pays as an investment. When a thing has a money value most people can best comprehend its importance, therefore we will give you a few figures for your consideration. Sickness in Crittenden County costs in Doctor bills alone $24,000, add to this $5,000 for medicine and $8,000 more for nursing and loss of time and funeral expence for they that die, then we have a grand total of $37,000. that sickness costs Crittenden County annually, to say nothing of the suffering or loss of precious lives that are sacrificed on the alter of ignorance and indifference. The chubby prattling babe is the one who suffers most, flies and filth. Think of the innocent babe as he holds his tiny hands to us, his big eyes beaming with innocent love for the parent. He knows no other one to look to for protection. He trusts us with that implicit faith. We would gladly give up our lives to save him, yet we thoughtlessly permit conditions to exist that endanger his life. We have all seen these loved ones suffer of the disease so common in the summer months.

We have seen their plump and healthy forms waste away till but little was left that resembled their former selves, yes we have seen them die and heard the Minister quote from Job: "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away blessed be the name of the Lord" and never consider that there is anything for us to do as (continued on second column.)

citizens towards saving these little innocents.

Flies visit all the filthy places in the community, their legs are laden with myriads of deadly germs, they come from their haunts to our kitchens and dining rooms carrying with them the germs of typhoid, dysentery, diarrhoea, tuberculosis, and many other diseases. Their delight is to take a meal with us and they always eat at the first table, and crawl over everything on the table, get into our coffee and milk, leaving a trail of poison where ever they go.

Some people think all the harm they can do is to tickle baby's nose or run foot races on baldheads. Therefore I am trying my best to impress upon your mind the "cussedness" of this filthy little creature. Now what is the remedy? We should oil or lime their breeding places at least once a week, have all manure and garbage removed as soon as possible, screen windows and doors, fight them in every conceivable way, keep all foods where they cannot come in contact with it. Screens in your windows will keep crabs off your doors. If this does not find its way into your waste basket I will endeavor to tell you something about the food we eat next time I write.

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleansed by a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin trouble.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Ointment of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble.

D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25-cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

Coronation Chair and Its History

Tradition Carries Story of "The Stone of Destiny" Back to Early Bible Times

FHE story of the chair in which King George V. will be crowned at Westminster Abbey is strangely interesting. Its authentic history carries us back to the time when Scotland had her own kings, and Scone was at once her Windsor and her coronation Westminster Abbey.

Among other relics which it contains is a bed used by James VI, and another with hangings of flowered crimson velvet, said to have been worked by Mary Stuart during her imprisonment in Lochleven Castle. The gallery, 100 feet long, occupies the place of the old Coronation Hall, where Charles II. was crowned in 1661. With the ancient Abbey of Scone are bound up some of the most interesting events in Scottish history; but today we think of it specially as the shrine where was long preserved the famous so-called "Stone of Destiny," which forms a part of the British coronation chair. It is this curiously unique treasure, chiefly, which gives a sort of uncanny romance to the chair.

The really authentic history of the stone would not be admitted by experts and questioning antiquaries to go back further than the date, about 834 A. D., when it was first found at Scone. But a long persisting legend or tradition brings it down from early Bible times. According to this view, it was the veritable pillow upon which the patriarch Jacob rested his head at Lul when he had his beautiful vision of the ladder that reached to Heaven. In this mythical account the stone is next traced to the possession of Gathelus, the son of Carops, King of Athens, who entered into the service of one of the Pharaohs, and married his daughter Scotia, from whom Scotland is said to derive its name. Gathelus brought it from Syria to Egypt; and, to escape an impending plague, he is said to have sailed from the Nile, by the advice of Moses, with his wife and the precious stone, and landed on the coast of Spain. Afterwards he sent the stone to Ireland under the care of his son, who invaded the island, and by whom it was set up on Tara Hill. There it was used as the Irish coronation stone for many ages.

USED IN IRELAND.
This brings us to at least the fringes of recorded secular history, when facts begin to conflict less with legend. It seems tolerably clear that the stone was really used as a sort of royal chair in Ireland, where, we are told, it was known as "Tie Fail," or the stone of fate. From Ireland it is supposed to have been once more taken by Edward III, when his order was not obeyed.

They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50¢ at James H.
